Morrison Says He Will Personally Conduct Enquiry

Investigation Is Started Already Into Alleged Cruelties in Road Camps Brought Suddenly to a Close.

(By The Associated Press)
RALEIGH, May 12.—Investigation of North Carolina prison system by the state department of Public Welfare was at a standstill today following an announcement by Governor Morrison yesterday that he had withdrawn his request for such action by Commissioner Kate Burr Johnson and had decided to personally direct an enquiry. Within the governor's declaration that "your investigation and report would embarrass me rather than aid me," and "the action of the board of directors of the state prison setting up a blockade against department agents," Mrs. Johnson said she could do nothing further until she conferred with W. A. Blair, chairman of the state Board of Charities and Public Welfare who lives at Winston-Salem, but now is out of the state.

Attention has been called to the authority of the department of Public Welfare which is as follows: "To investigate and supervise through and by its own members or agents or employees the whole system of the charitable and penal institutions of the state and to recommend such changes as it may deem needful for the better administration."

Governor Morrison's action was the subject of much discussion but none would talk for publication. A session of the council of the state was called by the chief executive, the members entering his office at eleven o'clock.

No details have been given out. Attorney General Manning is to be instructed to start investigations of prison conditions in their counties.

Tobacco Men To Resent Hostile Action By Foreign Governments

BY GEORGE H. MANNING
(Washington Correspondent of The Danville Bee.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 12.—Vigorous complaint against the action of foreign governments in discriminating against American tobacco products, thereby depriving American citizens abroad of their favorite brands, is expected to be voiced by delegates to the convention of the Tobacco Merchants' Association meeting in Washington next Wednesday.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover will be one of the principal speakers and will advise with the tobacco merchants as to how to avail themselves to the best advantage of the opportunities offered them in foreign markets. At present some of the European countries seem, from a tobacco man's standpoint, to be trying to pay a large price of the war debts through import customs duties and other levies upon American cigars, cigarettes and tobacco.

The tobacco men will take up a number of other important subjects during their two days' conference at the Willard Hotel, completing the Wednesday session with a banquet at which addresses will be made by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, General Herbert H. Lehman, director of the Bureau of Insular Affairs of the War Department; Herbert Kaufman, Joseph E. Davis and others.

"Styles in Smoking" will come under the head of new business at the opening session. The cigar manufacturers are finding themselves in a situation similar to the millinery industry with countless sizes, shapes, colors and odd prices complicating the business to an alarming extent. Cigar manufacturers too are interested in the work of eliminating, in line with the activities of the Department of Commerce in standardizing the size and shape of cigars without restriction, however, as to brands and prices.

Senator Jesse M. Bloch, of Wheeling, a member of the West Virginia legislature, president of the Tobacco Merchants' Association, will preside over the meetings. He will discuss features of the anti-tobacco campaign, which he charges, is an avowed effort to deprive Americans of a pleasure and a source of employment. He will also discuss the situation in foreign countries. A number of the recent contest for the selection of a slogan for the cigar industry. More than 6,000 phrases were submitted by contestants for the prize money.

JURY IS DISMISSED FOR TERM WITH TWO CASES STILL DOCKETED

Judge Withers this morning dismissed the Corporation court jury for the remainder of the term. All of the cases save two have been disposed of and on Monday morning the chancery docket will be called. The court session was an unusually short one, in fact, not in many years has it been possible to clear up the criminal docket in such a short time. Judge Withers has been working to this end for several terms of court and has sought to dispose of cases which have been on the docket for many months, and to wipe the slate clean.

The dismissal of the jury this morning led to a renewal of speculation as to the disposition of the Speed and the Neill cases, the only two remaining. The Speed case has been set for May 21st. By dismissing the jury it is indicated that a plea of guilty will be entered in the two indictments against the accused although there is no formal declaration as to what will be done. The fact that the jury has been dismissed, however, would not preclude a jury trial. The jury could be reassembled since the term of court is not over, or a new jury could be empaneled.

The Neill case is in statu quo, that is, "passed by" but some definite date for the coming week relative to trial, continuance or, possibly, dismissal, has not yet been reached. The fact that the evidence was not presented to the jury and that the jury was not sworn to see what their recollection of the evidence is and until this has been done no decision will be reached.

STONEVILLE SCHOOL PRINCIPAL FINED $25 FOR WHIPPING BOY

Evidence to the effect that six or eight switches were used on him, that blood was cut from his head, was heard at Spray yesterday where R. M. Scott, principal of the Stoneville school was tried before a jury of six men by Magistrate Hodges, for whipping Milton Rodenhizer, aged eleven years. The trial lasted virtually all day and was heard by a great crowd of Stoneville people. The jury finally found the principal guilty of an assault and sentenced him to pay a fine of $25. The accused principal had three well-known North Carolina lawyers to defend him, one appearing for the State.

Difficulty was experienced in securing a jury from the panel which had been summoned and finally it was necessary to secure jurors from the courtroom, six being finally chosen.

Massaging For Headache Called Criminal Action

PASADENA, Cal., May 11.—If you have a cold you must not take a Turkish bath, and if you have a headache you must not have a face massage. For it is just these things at such a time you are making a criminal out of the masseur or the barber.

At least that is what Attorney W. W. Webster argued with much plausibility in justice court here when Mrs. C. P. Fleming was given a preliminary hearing on a charge of violating the State medical practice act.

She was charged with giving massages and vibratory treatments to a patient, whose complaint, being brought by Albert Carter, agent of the State Medical Board. Such a thing he declared a misdemeanor.

Defending the woman, Webster asserted that just to have your head rubbed by the barber would be a violation, under such an interpretation of the law.

But Justice of the Peace L. K. C. Newell said the law being applied, it must be enforced, and bound the woman over to the superior court for trial.

Large Crowd Of Spectators View Big Ring Circus

Two audiences which taxed the capacity of the big tent saw exceptionally meritorious performances by Haggenbeck and Wallace's circus on the Wilson field yesterday. It seemed that more than unusual numbers of spectators thrilled to the program which, in the opinion of many who witnessed it, plays second fiddle to none of the even more familiar aggregations which have been seen here of recent years. In sheer daring of accomplishment and variety of entertainment the circus which some few years ago was hardly considered among the premier ranks certainly holds its place there now.

The circus landed in Danville in difficulties. A recalcitrant elephant at Lynchburg which developed a bad temper—so the energetic publicity man declared—ran amuck and piled up cages of performing lions and tigers and there was a delay of several hours, this resulting in the circus trains reaching Danville much later than had been anticipated. There were local difficulties to be encountered and owing to the condition of the only public road leading to the circus lot it was all the larger personnel could do to get set for the afternoon performance. The disappointment of circus fans who held their curbside positions as early as ten o'clock for the bands and the calliope which never came. The big tent was ready half an hour late but when the performance began at three o'clock the tedious wait on the part of early arrivals was more than compensated for by the character of the entire performance. Three rings were kept in operation, the middle one being reserved for three spectacular acts with trained lions and tigers. The acrobatic feats included a large troupe of Japanese tumblers who performed fascinating feats with an amazing dexterity. The usual array of clowns was in evidence, parodying modern evils and drawing a hearty laugh especially from the children who were out in numbers and who like their elders found it difficult to watch the goings on in three rings simultaneously. Just as the big brown bear was about to slide the chute, Barney Google insisted on drawing attention and by the time human curiosity was satisfied the bear was shambling back to quarters.

The trained seals with a star performer who played home sweet home on an electric dulcimer, as usual were considered one of the best acts and, again, as usual, were fed publicly from a basket of fish by their trainer who impressed one with having a real affection for the "sneaky" slick animals.

An outstanding feature of the circus was the tally-ho act towards the end when a full pack of beagles were brought in, followed by the master of the hounds and a full escort of hunters on all dully red coated. Three very nervous foxes were first taken round the outer course to give the scent to the hounds who were first led in leashed and in full cry. It was a realistic sight indeed; (after the foxes had been safely withdrawn) the beagles were unleashed and tore madly round the track hot on the scent of the foxes. Some brilliant equestrian acts were seen the finals being the Roman riders astride a pair of horses each.

One of the best of the variety acts, and something quite novel for a circus was the appearance of a group of men announced as champion Australian woodcutters who performed with saws and axes. They first cut in two a good sized tree trunk with a giant cross-cut saw in a few seconds, hurled their axes with precision from a distance into the side of a tree and finally two of the burly woodchoppers competed for honors in

Watch Lines in Neck to Keep Face Young, Says Expert

BY MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN
International Beauty Expert.

THE neck needs fully as much attention as the face, for long before the face shows signs of age, the throat indicates its approach.

I always say to my patients, "Judge how young you look by your throat and hands and don't wait for our face to give you away."

If you see horizontal lines across the neck or dry patches below the lobes of your ears, don't hesitate a minute before beginning an anti-wrinkle treatment on your face.

Methods of treatment for the neck are in many ways the same as for the face, but as the neck is bound to come in contact with water when you take your bath, you must be rather more liberal in your use of cream upon it.

Many actresses famed for their beauty apply cream before entering the bath and protect the throat from the water and soap which is often injurious.

A thin neck, which shows a tendency to wrinkle, must be massaged nightly with a tissue building cream which should be patted gently into the skin.

The woman who has a tendency toward superfluous flesh and who finds her chin doubling up or tripping on her face has a really serious problem to contend with.

Massage for the double chin should be done with very heavy strokes which will break down the fat cells. Astringent lotions should be applied frequently to tighten the skin. Slapping the chin briskly with the back of the hand also breaks down the fat formation.

As soon as a woman loses her contour, when her lines become indefinite or heavy, and when she no longer presents a clean-cut outline, her claim to youth is gone no matter how good a case the calendar may make out for her.

Never before have women had such a keen appreciation of the beauty of line. A generation ago the woman who dieted and kept her figure down was the exception. Today practically all women out of five who have come into their thirties are dieting.

Diet is one of the first steps toward beauty. The woman who will restrain her appetite and indulge in

NO gallery of feminine beauty is complete without the face of Ethel Barrymore, who probably came nearer than any other woman to typifying the American ideal of womanhood. Though her features are lovely indeed, and her coloring superb, one has always the feeling that her real beauty comes from within and is only the reflection of her character.

Every day, in every way, women are becoming more and more beautiful.

Miss Draper Is Well Received

Miss Ruth Draper, brilliant monologist and character actor, entertained and pleased a large audience representative of the culture of this city in her entertainment at the Masonic Temple auditorium last night. Her appearance here was under the auspices of the Music Study Club, and the appeal of that organization supplemented the merits of the entertainer in assuring her both a numerous and an appreciative audience. A young woman of charming personality, intellectual force and liberal culture, she demonstrated mastery of the art of expression and in the program she gave, her versatility was as noteworthy as her capacity and effectiveness in character portrayal and interpretation. Without resort to make-up and costume appropriate to the selection and the person portrayed, she vested each separate character with an individuality and distinctiveness which clearly differentiated them and made of each a mental picture. An admirable voice, exquisitely trained and masterfully controlled and modulated, lent the eloquent force of expression and the personality that command attention and compel appreciation. In a word, she has chosen and equipped herself for an art for which Nature gave her a rich initial endowment and culture and imaginative power supplemented. Her program last night included a variety of selection introducing as many distinct impersonations and including the following: French Dressmaker, "Three Generations," "A Debutante," "A Class in Greek Poise," "On the Porch in a Maine Coast Town," "A Children's Party," and finally "In a Railway Station on the Western Plains."

—But You Can't Ride on the Paint!

Imitation diamonds can be made to look so real and sparkle so brightly that it is difficult to tell them from the genuine.

But try to sell one and you will find out its real worth in a flash.

Same with automobiles. Weaknesses of construction in a closed car can be hidden, for a time, with paint and varnish and fancy fittings. But all is not quality that glitters.

You can't ride on the paint. And when you place such a car in the second hand market, you suffer a heavy depreciation because it lacked real intrinsic value at the outset. Use will never improve a mediocre product.

The second hand floor is the melting pot for automobile values. Cars are stripped of artificial values and only inherent worth counts.

Motor car owners tell us that the trade-in value of any Studebaker car at the end of three or four or five years of useful life is greater than on any other car built today—the percentage of depreciation is the lowest.

No wonder the Studebaker Light-Six Sedan is the fastest selling quality Sedan in the world!

The name Studebaker stands for quality, durability, comfort and integrity.

Good Morning Judge!

Despite the fact that a circus was in town yesterday, which ordinarily results in a large docket on the following day, there were but four cases to come up in the police court this morning, three of which were drunks. However, not a single arrest was made on the circus grounds yesterday or last night and this is regarded as unusual. All of the officers did double time yesterday and performed their duties faithfully, and deserve especial praise for their work. At the circus grounds both afternoon and night the crowds were the most orderly ever seen at a circus. Not even a man under the influence of whisky was seen. There was nothing that resembled a quarrel or fight. "Everything was like clock work," was the way Chief of Police J. R. Bell described the situation this morning. A force of traffic took care of the large number of automobiles and they handled the traffic in a skillful manner. Despite the jam of cars on West Main street at times, not a single accident during the course of the day was reported. In all, the crowds were the most orderly and the day the quietest from a police officers' standpoint that ever was witnessed on a circus day.

The three drunks dealt with this morning were arrested in other parts of the city. They were assessed the usual ten dollars and costs.

The fourth case was a charge of larceny against Ruth Jones, colored. She was fined $5 and costs and sentenced to thirty days in jail for stealing a dress from a local store.

Fire Destroys Ten Carloads Of Calcium Arsenate

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, May 12.—Ten carloads of calcium arsenate, made from the government formula for combating the boll weevil in the South and enough to cover 15,000 acres, was destroyed by fire today which burned a storehouse of the Shipman Chemical Engineering Company at Bound Brook, N. J. R. N. Shipman, president of the company, said the arsenate had a value of about $60,000 but that it might be possible to salvage some of it. There is need just now for the product and a shortage will now result, Mr. Shipman said. The product is the only effective agent in fighting the boll weevil.

Fashions Not for Fat Women, So City Helps Them to Reduce

BY BOB DORMAN
NEWARK, N. J., May 12.—Another anti-fat war is on. Fat women of Newark, of all ages and all kinds of curves, are working off excess weight under a set of anti-fat rules laid down by Dr. Charles W. Craster, of the city health department.

Sixty women offered themselves as victims. "Forty-one still survive the torture of the municipal reducing plant. They do a daily workout under the direction of Miss Allene Stewart, physical instructor of the Y. W. C. A."

"Fat and health do not go together," says Dr. Craster, not to speak of beauty.

Nineteen members of the anti-fat class couldn't resist the lure of sweets and starch and other palatable things that had been put on the deferred list. So they withdrew.

"I'd rather be fat and happy," said one, "than thin and miserable."

The Y. W. C. A. gymnasium and the roof serve as a municipal reducing plant. Here you can watch mountainous ladies puff and gasp through strenuous exercises. This is the battle-cry:

"Take off a pound a day
And make the buttons strain."

"Well," said Miss Dottie Cohen, wiping beads of perspiration from a damp brow, "I'm glad I'm not married. I don't have to cook those nice fattening things and watch somebody else eat them."

Mrs. Frieda Ladoux had a look of pain. One imagined that Mr. Ladoux is slender, and doesn't care what he eats.

NEWARK, N. J., FAT CLASS ROLLING ON THEIR STOMACHS (ABOVE) AND A VIEW (BELOW) OF THE "WINDMILL" EXERCISE.

"I lost two pounds today," declared Mrs. Mary Marsh, happily adding that she could see her ribs for the first time in years.

Here are the vital statistics of some of the students in slimmish, who have taken off from five to nine pounds in a week:

	Before	After
Mrs. Samuel Bennes	232	224.7
Miss Dottie Cohen	191.4	186.3
Mrs. Mollie Papler	183	179
Mrs. C. Gallert	189	181
Mrs. Mary Marsh	177.7	176.5

Mrs. Bennes and Mrs. Papler came from the shower engaged in the melancholy pleasure of discussing the comparative tastiness of chocolate cake and chocolate candy. If they stick with Dr. Craster's program they won't be able to do any more than talk about either for a long time.

"Remember that diet," warned Miss Stewart, the relentless instructor, "you watch your diet and I'll watch your exercise."

Forty-one grim-faced women gave their official torturer a look of fury and went away, shuddering.

Miss Stewart winked. "The secret," said she, "is a little daily reminder but can't. That keeps the girls working off the pounds."

the play and an enjoyable program is assured. An admission price of 35c will be charged.

Basil Browder will sing at Mount Vernon Church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. His number will be "Little Mother of Mine," by Burleigh.

Radio signals of standard frequency will be transmitted at regular intervals from the Bureau of Standards in Washington during the remainder of May and until June 10, the Department of Commerce announced yesterday.

"These standard frequency signals are intended to be used for standardizing wave meters and adjusting transmitting and receiving sets," the announcement says.

"The proper adjustment of such apparatus is particularly important in connection with the reallocation of wave lengths as recommended by the National Radio Conference."

The Baptists at South Boston have decided definitely on the construction of a new $50,000 sacred edifice and Sunday school auditorium, the work to be undertaken without further delay.

The recital given by the Callands High School in their auditorium on Thursday night was enjoyed by a large and appreciative audience. The recital was given by pupils under Miss Elizabeth Dudley. The program was a varied one and was thoroughly enjoyed.

The series of revival meetings at Third Avenue Christian church continue to draw large crowds. Much interest is being shown and there have been thirty-four professions of faith. Rev. Mr. Johnson, who has the services in charge, spoke last night from the text, "Be Sure Your Sin Will Find You Out." The membership of the church held prayer meetings every morning at 9:30 o'clock in various homes. The singing during the revival is under the direction of J. W. Dixon. The main altar program had been a feature of the meetings, which will continue to-night and throughout next week.

Rev. J. P. Hite, of Norfolk, who is being conserved as pastor for Kees Street Baptist church will be here tomorrow and will preach at that church both at the morning and evening services. It is understood that the board of deacons proposes to recommend him to the church congregation for a formal call. He has under consideration at the present time calls from three churches. Rev. Mr. Hite is at present completing his education at the Leuville Seminary. The board of deacons of the church will meet on Sunday afternoon for the purpose of discussing the vacancy.

Tomorrow is Mother's Day. It will be observed in Danville, not by the usual mass meeting in the Ridge Street tabernacle but in the various Sunday schools where special exercises will be held.

Vester Anderson, negro, was arrested at his home on Liberty Hill this morning at an early hour by Chief of Police Cole of Schoolfield. Deputy Sheriff J. E. Rice and Officer Milton. The officers report finding 24 gallons of liquor and Anderson is in jail.

The situation in the High school was strained, to say the least, early yesterday afternoon, as the students and faculty were engaged in a certain readiness on the part of some of the students who were well posted as to the hour of the performance. Some of the pupils, it is reported, took it upon themselves to be a W. O. L. and Principal Sidney H. Hall, observing a certain thinning of the ranks of students, ambushed himself near the main door and met quite a number of absentees who retreated, taking a hurried exit from the building. A humane view of the situation and dismissed all classes fifteen minutes before the usual hour and all who wanted to do so attended the event.

The violin students of Miss Louise Hansen will give their annual recital at Averett College Tuesday, May 15th, at eight o'clock, to which the public is invited. The program is a most interesting one and is cordially invited.

A play entitled "The Old Maid's Club" will be given next Wednesday night at Mt. Hermon school. Much time has been spent in preparing for

Marshal Booker To Be Candidate For Congress 1924

Hon. Marshall B. Booker, of Halifax county, will be a candidate for Congress from the Fifth Virginia District in 1924. This news reached The Bee this morning from a friend of Mr. Booker who said that the Halifax man told him so no later than yesterday. A few weeks ago when Mr. Booker was in Danville, he was ambiguous when asked what his intentions were, saying that while he was not continuing the report he was not denying it. It is now clear, however, that he intends to be in the running against Congressman Hatcher. Mr. Booker, who is generally understood, will be a candidate for re-election. At the Fifth District convention which nominated Mr. Booker for Congress, it was Marshall Booker who turned the tide of support for Hooker after several roll calls had been taken. It was, however, freely predicted at the time, that the Halifax man would be heard from at the next election.

James Griffin Is Given Up As Dead

PETERSBURG, Va., May 11.—Declaring that he had every reason to believe that James E. Griffin, proprietor of the Lake View Bathing Resort who disappeared several days ago, was dead, Commonwealth's Attorney Harry L. Snead announced tonight that Chesterfield county had offered a reward of $250 for "information leading to the arrest and conviction of Griffin's assailant and abductor."

Explaining that he could not make public all the information he has in connection with the case, Mr. Snead said, "we believe Griffin was abducted and probably murdered. The prosecutor indicated that he expected an arrest in connection with the case within the next few days."

Daily Puzzle

Can you discover a word in the English language that contains the vowels A E I O U, in their alphabetical order. Each vowel must appear but once, and in the order shown above.

Yesterday's answer:
A ten-pointed star would be necessary to make the number of points on the Turkish emblem divisible by both four and six. Twelve is the smallest number divisible by both four and six. There are ten points on the star, and two points on the crescent, thus making twelve points on the emblem.

Iceberg Sinks Schooner; Twenty-Eight Missing

HAIFA, May 11.—Five members of the crew of the French schooner of the Breteigne, which arrived here today on the French cruiser Rugulius, reported that the schooner had been sunk in collision with an iceberg and that twenty-eight others were missing. It is feared they perished.

The Rugulius also brought two members of the crew of the fishing schooner La Tour du Pin, who got separated from their vessel in a fog. All are in the hospital suffering from exposure, frost bite and hunger.

See Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, has discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative. No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action. If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime. Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

TO EXPECTANT MOTHERS

A Letter from Mrs. Ward Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Springfield, Ohio.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound proved a splendid medicine for me before my fourth child was born. With the first three I had been sick and weak, and had sick headaches twice a week. I couldn't keep enough food down to do me any good, and my work was left undone many a time. My sister-in-law told me to take the Vegetable Compound when I began to have the same old dreadful sickness and headaches and was so worn out. Since then I have only had two headaches, had a good appetite and scarcely lost a meal. I have a fine, healthy baby girl who has never had a sick day. The nicest part is that I am healthy, too. It did me a lot of good, and I should ever have another baby. I will take your medicine at once."—Mrs. BESSIE WARD, 1927 Park Avenue, Springfield, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for expectant mothers, and should be taken during the entire period. It has a general effect to strengthen and tone up the entire system, so that it may work in every respect effectually as nature intends.

COURT SUPPORTS WORKER BARRED BY THE UNION

LONDON, May 11.—The English high courts have decided that it is the privilege of a working man to work as long hours as he pleases, union rules notwithstanding. Samuel Blackall sought an injunction against the National Union of Foundry Workers of Great Britain, restraining them from expelling him from the union.

Blackall worked three-quarters of an hour overtime in order to finish a job. He did not charge for his overtime, but the local branch of the union decided that he had broken a by-law against working overtime and fined him. He refused to pay the fine or to pay contributions to the union until the fine was remitted. Finally the union expelled him under a rule that no member should be more than twenty weeks in arrears in dues. The Justice of the Bench, decided in favor of Blackall and issued a restraining order. He found that Blackall had not been given notice of the meeting in which he was ordered fined and had no opportunity of offering a defense. The decision was, in fact, a sentence of industrial death upon the plaintiff, the justice said. "His whole chance of getting a living was taken away from him."

He observes that the members of this union address each other as "brother." It would be well, I think if they would drop that form of appellation all they learn what constitutes the elements of brotherhood between man and man.

The justice then handed down a ruling prohibiting the union from barring Blackall and ordering the union to pay all costs.

WORDY WITNESSES WORK HARDER ON TWO KANSAS CITY COURT REPORTERS
KANSAS CITY, May 11.—Due to the verbosity of witnesses who testified recently in the trial of W. E. Stewart in the United States District Court here two court reporters were given one of the most intensive work-outs of their career.

Fifty thousand words a day was the average quota of voluminous testimony offered during the hearing. Bert Dummitt and Gordon Smith, who took turns in seating themselves directly beneath the witness chair, took every line of testimony, argument and debate between attorneys. The estimate of the aggregate number of words handled jointly by the stenographers was placed at 1,250,000.

Mere Men Flirts Had Better Beware; Anti-Kidders Organize

(Special to The News.)

EVANSVILLE, Ind., May 12.—Sweet papa, sweet papa, you'd better look out, the girls of this town have your mark. They say you're a pest and'll hand you a clout, if your life becomes worse than your bark!

They've banded together and formed a new club, with Rose Kibby as its chief, and woe to the flirt, the vamp and the dub, for him will be nothing but grief.

"The single ones are bad enough," sighs Rose, explaining the plot, "but the married men with all their bluff—say, will we stand for that—we wait not!"

"And it isn't as hard to spot them, as some of you folk may think. The charts she's prepared tell the story of each, now read 'em over and blink:

WILL STOP FLIRTING
"Yes," says Miss Kibby earnestly, confirming reports that she's organized an Anti-Kidding Club. "Girls of this town are bothered considerably by male vamps, and we intend to put an end to it."

"Especially is this true for the girl who works behind a cigar counter, or in a restaurant. But it holds equally true for office girls and others."

"It's time something was being done to protect the girls from these pests, and we intend to make life miserable for them."

Attacks launched by the club are to be aimed especially against "lonesome papas," she explains.

"How can we tell those who are married from the single ones? That's easy:

HOW TO TELL THEM
"You see, an unmarried man keeps silent on the subject of marriage. A married one will quickly deny he's married even before anyone asks him about it."

"Single men assume a pose when talking, a la movies. Married ones, with their conscience hitting on one cylinder, only use one foot to stand on, and lean an elbow on a counter or table."

"They talk as rapidly as they think they progress into a girl's affection. 'Clothes of a married man usually are neat. But they keep up with the

The bandits car was parked two blocks from police headquarters.

Crocker's Will Case On Trial In Irish Court

DUBLIN, May 11.—In the Dublin courts this week Richard Crocker will contest the will of his late father, the former Boss of Tammany Hall. The chief point on which Crocker will contend is that Mrs. Bula E. Crocker, the Boss' second wife, with other persons unknown, exercised undue influence over his father in the making of the will.

Mrs. Crocker, denies this, and has the leading attorneys of the Irish bar fighting her case. Two senior attorneys, who will be at least $500 per day have been retained by her besides three juniors. Richard Crocker has five attorneys fighting the case for him besides A. B. Smith, the New York attorney, who has been in Ireland now two months fighting the case together. Witnesses have been brought from America so long ago as two months, and have been staying at the leading hotels in Dublin enjoying first-class fare. When the trial of the action will be out of pocket at least $75,000, and that is conservative estimate.

The case would be ordinarily heard in the Dublin courts only that massive pile of buildings was destroyed by the Irish Republicans last summer, and the court will be in an improvised room in Dublin Castle. Not for 250 years has a court of justice sat in the castle until a few weeks ago, and the Crocker case will hold the distinction of being the most expensive ever held there.

A special jury has been empanelled to try the action. The difference between a common jury and a special jury is selected from the business community and receives a guinea for his services. In the case of the common jury ordinary jury one guinea is divided amongst the twelve.

Mr. Justice Dodd who is the presiding judge, is a lawyer of long experience. He has been a judge of the supreme court for 16 years, and in his wig and flowing black gown reminds one of a figure from the 16th or 17th centuries.

The attorneys who will do the pleadings as is custom in Irish and English courts will all wear wigs and gowns. No lawyer can appear before a judge without the regalia.

The lawyers will not address the judge as "My Lord" but by the legal formula of "My lord". When an attorney rises to address the court he begins with the phrase "May I please your Lordship," or "If your Lordship please."

There are a great many formulas and customs in the Irish courts which will not be found in America, but they are all terribly expensive.

No Danger Of Over-Inflation
Tires Will Stand All The Pressure Due To Heating

THERE IS A VERY widespread belief that there is, during hot weather, serious danger of tires bursting from excessive pressure occasioned by the overheating of the air contained in them. It is perfectly true that the internal pressure increases with rise of temperature, but as a practical matter, the danger of blowouts from this cause need not be seriously considered. The following concrete example may be cited in illustration: A tire is inflated to 70 pounds at a temperature of 50 degrees Fahrenheit and is then exposed to a temperature of 120 degrees Fahrenheit, when the pressure will be found to have risen to about 80 pounds. This range of temperature is nearly as great as would be met with in moderate practice. Suppose, however, the rather extreme final temperature of 200 degrees Fahrenheit is reached, with the same tire. Under these circumstances the final pressure will be almost 90 pounds, but everyone knows that this pressure will not endanger a tire the normal pressure of which is 70 lbs. A tire inflated so high will, however, bounce noticeably and its hard riding qualities are likely to suggest the letting out of some air, for comfort's sake. In practice, the average tire is run under-inflated most of the time and exposure to intense heat will, in the majority of cases, hardly more than raise the pressure to the recommended value. If the motorist will guard against under-inflation, over-inflation will take care of itself.

TIMING GEARS NOISY

T. A. H. writes: The timing gears of my car are very noisy when idling or going down grade. What would you suggest as a remedy? This car has been run only 4,800 miles.

Answer: From what you say, these gears are quiet when the engine is pulling its load, and this indicates that the noise that comes from them is noticeable only when the engine is running somewhat irregularly as to speed. Anything which you can do to make the engine fire more regularly when running idle will reduce this noise. A little richer low speed mixture; special attention to the ignition at low speed and the correction of any air-leaks might give you more regular slow speed operation. If you cannot make these gears run quietly, there is a possibility of substituting for them a set of some of the recent makes of silent timing gears, which really run with extremely little noise. We believe that several makes of these gears are available for your car.

MIXTURE TOO RICH TO FIRE

H. S. writes: I have no trouble in starting my engine from a cold condition, but after driving for about 15 minutes and shutting it down, I have considerable trouble in starting it again, although the starter works perfectly. Have had the carburetor adjusted recently. Is it possible that I am using too much oil? The plugs foul quickly. How can I overcome this starting trouble?

Answer: It may be that, when hot, the cylinders contain a too rich mixture to start on. You do not use the choke either at starting, when the engine is hot, or at shutting the engine down, do you? This would tend to flood the cylinders and prevent starting. Are you sure that

Questions of general interest to the motorist will be answered by Mr. Clough in this column, space permitting. If an immediate answer is desired, enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope.

LABOR PROTESTS CONTRACT AWARD

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 11.—The protest from the Federation of Labor on the award of the contract for reconstruction of the Steamship President Buchanan to a private shipyard over a Navy Yard plant was met at the White House today with the statement that President Harding saw no remedy for such a situation except in action by Congress to permit navy yards to submit bids on such work.

The protest made by the council was based on the ground that the Shipping Board agreed a bid from the Newport News Ship Building and Dry Dock Company for the work which was higher by $490,000 than an estimate made by the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

The position of the president was said to be that it was unwise to award such work to navy yards as long as they by law are able to present only estimates and cannot be bound by such an estimate. Even if the law were changed to permit navy yards to submit bids it might not remedy the situation, the president was said to hold, as then the government would have to pay if the work was not done within the cost limits specified in the bid.

ATHLETES SWING INTO ACTION AT STADIUM FIELD

(By The Associated Press)
RICHMOND, Va. May 11.—Athletes wearing the colors of sixteen colleges and universities of the District of Columbia, Maryland, North Carolina and Virginia, swung into action this afternoon in the preliminaries to the South Atlantic track and field meet to be staged at Stadium Field, University of Richmond tomorrow afternoon.

Two South Atlantic records were broken and two others were equaled during the test this afternoon. Clark, of Johns Hopkins, set a new mark of 9 4-5 for the 100 yard dash and a few minutes later tied the record of 21 3-5 for the 220 yards Planky, of Georgetown University added an inch to the javelin record established last year by Legendre, former Georgetown star. Planky's throw was 174 feet five inches.

Boyles of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, tied the record of 15 1-5 seconds for the 120 yard high hurdles. He creamed 460 entries survived the trial heats today and won their way to the semi-finals tomorrow. With a little further warming out, it is expected that the men who will compete in the final events tomorrow afternoon will present as fine an array of athletes as ever gathered on a South Atlantic Field.

HIGH POINT, N. C., May 11.—High Point hit often and opportunely here this afternoon and won from the Tobaccoists by the score of 9 to 2. The locals secured 14 hits, which included three home runs and four two-baggers. The visitors also hit the ball hard, getting 12, but Mott kept the hits scattered and fanned out 7 of the Murphyites.

The Tobaccoists presented a new lead-off man today in Dorman and he fully justified the change in the speed he showed on the bases. He also made one of the most sensational fielding plays ever seen here when on Powell's hard grounder he doubled McCullough at second, Heckle completing the play by a quick throw to first.

Batting honors for the day were divided between Thrasher of the home club and Trexler of the visitors. Thrasher secured two home runs, while Trexler secured one homer, one double and one single.

PENNOCK BREAKS SENATORS' JINX

NEW YORK, May 11.—Herbie Pennock, former Boston Red Sox pitcher, now a member of the New York Yankees, feels that he has already broken a long standing jinx with his new club behind him.

When pitching for the Athletics and Boston, Pennock was always a loser. Only once in five years did he score a victory over the Nationals. "Usually he failed to last out the game."

In his first start as a Yankee, Pennock was pitched against the Washington club. He scored a decisive 7 to 1 victory, having no trouble in disposing of his former jinx team.

All of which makes Pennock believe that he is set for a big season.

Eastern Varsities Ready For West

By WALTER CAMP
(Copyright, 1923, By The Bee)
NEW YORK, May 11.—What a triumph it would be for the Pacific coast if a Washington crew should win the Poughkeepsie Regatta, if Yale, coached by Leander, the former Washington rowing mentor, should defeat Harvard at New London, and if the track team of the University of California should win the Intercollegiate games for the third time. It is quite within the realm of possibility for any or all of these things to happen.

California is coming east again for the Intercollegiate which the team from Berkeley won in 1921 and 1922. It will be a bitter pill for the eastern universities to swallow if the team of the blue and gold snatches victory for the third successive time. Stanford however is not to be represented this year and the excellent performance from Palo Alto will be missed.

We shall see Brick Muller, the great football end and jumper, however. He probably will be called on to hurl the discus this year as well as compete in the high and broad jumps. Nobody knows whether he is as good as he was when he had that duel with London of Yale in 1921 in which they tied for first place at six feet three and a half inches. He is reported to be doing well over six feet in his ordinary practice and can be counted on to cover more than 22 feet in the broad jump. Egan can get close to 25 feet also. Norris, the California Pole Vaulter, will make someone do close to 13 feet to beat him and Sorrento is getting over 185 feet with the Javelin. Sheppard, the first string California sprinter, is a consistent second man and has been a shade under that figure.

Becker is good for 15-4-5 in the high hurdles and Van Sant can do 24-4-5 over the low barriers. Corsi, credited with 2 miles in nine minutes 47 seconds and Saxby, has run the 440 in a shade under fifty seconds. Altogether California has a fair all around team but it will go up against stiffer opposition and more special stars this year than ever before. If it carries off the coveted trophy next month it will indeed be a wonderful performance.

INJURY MAY BE A HANDICAP TO EXTERMINATOR

NEW YORK, May 11.—Is an injury recently suffered to deprive the great Exterminator from setting a new money record for the American turf?

Lacking one winning race that would send him out in front of Man o' War's record, rumor has it that Exterminator is through.

Had he won the Dominion handicap, his last start, he would have passed the high money mark. Conceding much weight, he lost to Chickadee by a short head in a great finish.

In a recent workout Exterminator pulled a plane and some of the turf experts are inclined to think that he will never race again. The trouble is said to be the foreleg which went lame last fall.

Exterminator is eight years old, the pet of the stable of his millionaire owner, Willis Sharpe Kilmer. It is a certainty that Kilmer will take no chance in starting Exterminator unless his trainer pronounces him perfectly fit.

BOMBING PLANES ARRIVE
(By The Associated Press)
CAPE MAY, N. J., May 11.—Three giant Martin bombing planes the first of a fleet of aircraft that the government is expected to use in attacking liquor landing parties along the New Jersey coast, arrived today at Sewall Point from Langley Field, Va. The airplanes were furnished by the War Department. A unit of two hundred officers and enlisted men will form the combat squadron that will fight rum runners this summer. It was intimated.

Little Known Rules Of Tennis Revealed

LAWRENCE PERRY
(Copyright, 1923, by The Bee)
NEW YORK, May 12.—That handy annual, the Manual of the Tennis Umpires Association has just come to hand. It is an indispensable little brochure for any one who wishes to play the game by the card. And even those who fancy they know a lot about the rules will find perhaps that they do not know as much as they think after a perusal of the regulations governing play and the duties of the various officials.

Do you know, Mr. Player, that if you should return a ball outside the posts, no matter whether or not it is below the level of the net band, that it is a good ball—provided it goes within the court? In other words there is no rule that says the ball must go over the net.

Do you know that you cannot lean over the net and volley a ball, even granting that net is not touched? Many players do this and get away with it. Of course after the ball has reached the net it may be struck through. But the net must not be touched either by bat or player. There have been cases where a ball has dropped into your territory and then as a result of a cut has bounced back into the opponent's side of the net. In such case you do not have to stand helplessly and watch the ball. You may lean over the net and strike the ball—provided the net is not touched. Here is where the long armed, long legged man has an advantage.

Do you know that if you win the toss of the racket before a game you may serve or receive as you wish? Almost everyone knows that but how many know that, in electing to serve, your opponent has the right to choose the court the party of the first part may decide if he will serve or let the opponent serve? Do you know that in doubles, partners may change the order of serving after each set if they wish?

In brief, a study of this manual brings to light a great many things that are not revealed in the ordinary course of dubbing along in actual play.

Sarazen and Hagen drove sixty dozen golf balls, at a dollar per, into the ocean from the deck of the steamship upon which they were journeying to England. If our golfers adopt this scheme of practice in the future the trans-Atlantic lanes may be as full of American driven golf balls as are the waters alongside the British coasts that border upon the English channel, the Irish of Ford and other bodies of water. Only the deep sea balls were provided by sporting goods manufacturers—which makes a difference.

These are the days when our college hopefuls who have listened to the siren voice of big league managers are packing their bags and trekking over the highways that lead to the minor leagues. Sisters and Fraters come sporadically about two to a generation.

Whipping Master Should Love His Charge—Bryan

(By The Associated Press)

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 11.—"If you won't prohibit corporal punishment then you should at least require that the whippings master love his charge," William Jennings Bryan told the Florida Legislature in an address here today.

Mr. Bryan referred to arguments advanced in the voluminous debate of the last few weeks in consideration of the new reforms that since parents are permitted to whip their children, there was no reason why the lash should be abolished for convicts. Mr. Bryan, who spoke to the assembly in joint session for nearly two hours, took Darwinian atheism and agnosticism, however, as his main subjects and pleaded that the legislature pass a resolution which would give it as the assembly's sense that such subjects should not be taught in schools or institutions supported by taxation in this state. The real issue there has been misrepresented, he declared.

Singling out his lease system for attack, Mr. Bryan said, "You don't have to wait for the report of the legislative committee to act. Just bear in mind, gentlemen, that greed and humanity do not go together."

It is too great a temptation to place on any man, he said, to give the absolute authority over a fellow man in whom his only interest is that of getting value received in work for the "money he paid for his body."

Ignorance of conditions will sometimes excuse a people he continued, "but what are you going to say since you have had the exhibition if you fail to remedy these evils."

COUNTY SEVERES

T. J. KNABB CONTRACT GAINESVILLE, Fla., May 11.—The county commissioners today passed resolutions reversing their contract with T. J. Knabb, State Senator, for the leasing of prisoners and demanding the immediate return of all Alachua county prisoners leased to him.

As he trotted down the gangplank a crowd of admirers captured him, lifted him over their heads and set up a great cheering.

"Don't overlook the Sox in our league. My team is going to win a lot of ball games."

MIKE M'TIGUE BACK AT HOME

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 11.—Mike M'Tigue, who left the United States some months ago, unopposed, returned to the Berensburg today as light-heavyweight champion of the world to a welcome fit for a nabob.

The conqueror of Battling Siki, the Senegalese, wore a soft hat pushed back on his neck and a grin that widened as a brass band on the pier played a merry Irish tune of welcome. As he trotted down the gangplank a crowd of admirers captured him, lifted him over their heads and set up a great cheering.

"I'm glad I am to be home again," Mike M'Tigue gave a short account of his victory over Siki in the twenty-round contest in Dublin last St. Patrick's Day.

"Now, if you walked into a blacksmith's shop and saw the smithy pounding a horseshoe with a sledgehammer, you wouldn't put your head on the anvil would you?"

NEW YORK CLUBS FAVORED TO WIN

CHICAGO, May 11.—Who will win the major league pennants? Listen to what Connie Mack and Kid Gleason, two wise old birds, have to say.

"Probably it would be a good thing if the pennant game could be removed from New York, but both the Giants and Yankees have the fever strong," says Mack.

"McGraw has a great ball club that needs only fair pitching to win and he should get at least that brand of twirling."

"The Yankees have a club that possesses unlimited possibilities. The pitching staff is the best in the league. Huggins is the only manager in the American League who should be free from pitching worries."

"Right now it certainly looks like the two New York clubs."

Kid Gleason's White Sox performed in a barnstorming trip with the New York Nationals this spring. Naturally no one should be better positioned to pass judgment on the Giants' Sox than the Kid.

"McGraw has a great ball club, one of the best I have ever seen in my long career. It wouldn't surprise me if his club made a run for it in the National League. His outfield is one of the greatest of all time."

"Don't overlook the Sox in our league. My team is going to win a lot of ball games."

Warns Against Coaching Schools

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 12.—William C. Denning, newly installed president of the United States Civil Service commission, scarcely became comfortably seated in his official chair before he found occasion to give warning against the activities of certain individuals and so-called schools making extravagant claims as to their ability to further the interests of candidates for government employment. In a statement issued today, Mr. Denning said that there has come to his attention a blank form of contract distributed by one of these concerns which provides that the signer shall pay $10 to the other party to the contract to assist the signer in securing a position as postmaster. There is a further stipulation that $20 more is to be paid when the signer is confirmed as postmaster. The recipient agrees to represent the signer before the postoffice department and the Civil Service commission. The impression is given, although not expressly stated, that the person to whom the money is paid can in some way help the signer to an appointment. There is a "hook" in it in these words of the contract: "If within your power to do so." That is, if the applicant fails and complains the "coach" can say that he did his damndest.

Rye Beach Shuts Out Auto Dressing Rooms For Stranger Bathers

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., May 11.—In order to prevent thousands of people from outside the town going to Rye and Oakland Beach situated in bathing suits under raincoats in order to escape paying the town for bath houses the Rye Park Commission has just adopted a special ordinance that only residents of Rye will be admitted to Oakland Beach and given the exclusive privilege of using the town bath houses. Last year thousands of people clad in bathing suits went to the park in autos, which they used as dressing rooms, not hiring bathing houses. Nor did they contribute in any way to the support of the town park. Their presence so congested the beach as to terribly crowd off the sands the Rye townspeople. Outsiders will now be compelled to rent bath houses within Rye Park or keep out.

CELEBRATE MOTHER'S DAY IN SPIRIT, SAYS FOUNDER

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—Observe Mother's Day, in spirit, not in mere ostentation.

This is the plea being made by the Mothers' Day International Association, a the whole world prepares to celebrate the beautiful new international holiday.

Charges of profiteering by florists seeking to capitalize Mothers' Day have been met with a response that doing something for mothers' joy, not mere flower wearing, is the object. The association is opposed to paying outrageous prices for white carnations, according to its president, Anna Jarvis, founder of Mothers' Day.

"There is only one thing important this day of days," says Miss Jarvis. "That is to remember mother."

"Go home and see her if you are away in another town. Take her some joy. If you can't do that, write her a special delivery letter or telegram to reach her Mothers' Day."

"That is what Mothers' Day means—remembrance of mother." Meanwhile, observance has spread to all parts of Europe and to Japan, China, Africa and Palestine.

SUIT BROUGHT BY DANCERS

(By The Associated Press.)
BALTIMORE, May 11.—One of the country's first marathon dances, apparently long since dead, rose from its grave today, when suits aggregating over $14,000 were instituted against the management of the Garden theater, and its promoters, by eight couples who took part in the contest. The dancers allege they entered the contest by invitation of the theater management. A prize of $1,000 was offered, they claim, if the world's record, then 52 hours, was broken. The dance was halted with the eighth couples on the floor, after 32 hours and 16 minutes.

One hundred dollars each instead of the promised $1,000 was given each dancer, it is declared. The contest began April 12.

News of the Day By the Camera Reporter

IN CAPITAL SOCIETY. This is Miss Beatrice Beck, daughter of Solicitor General and Mrs. James M. Beck. She's prominent in the social circles of both New York and Washington. Before he got his present job, her dad was a leading lawyer and once was assistant attorney general of the United States.

DOUGHBOYS' BOSS. How many doughboys recognize this man? He's Major General Henry T. Allen, who was in command of our forces on the Rhine before they were withdrawn a few weeks ago. General Allen now announces he's about to withdraw from the service. Will he return to Germany?

SPRINTER. We supposed all Philadelphia girls did was to go to afternoon teas and talk about the Revolution—the 1776 one, not the proletarian—until we saw this picture of Betty Schenkel, who lives there. She's the champion girl sprinter of the Pennsylvania Railroad System.

DOBBIN'S STILL ON JOB. See how proud these horses at Winnipeg, Manitoba, look. They're saying to you: "A five-ton truck with the engine out, some leaves added to the springs, a platform extended over the front wheels, us pulling it, makes a fine ten-ton wagon, n'est-ce-pas?"

READY, FIRE! Since the "stronger sex" went in for tuxedo-trousers and rouge, the girls at the University of Oregon decided the nation needed somebody to defend it, so they went in for marksmanship. Here's a squad of trained feminine sharpshooters taking regular army training.

TREE AND CAPITOL IN BATTLE. It looks as if this "snowball tree" were in a contest with the building behind it to gain public attention—and the tree seems to be winning. The building is the California state capitol at Sacramento. The children—they wouldn't tell their names.

GOOD LUCK, ADMIRAL! Rear Admiral Thomas Washington, who is trying to look as stern as possible in this picture, will leave soon to take up his new work as commander of our Asiatic fleet. He hails from North Carolina and has been chief of the Bureau of Investigation in Washington since 1919.

EXPLODED! Everybody believes no one can be a musical composer without long hair. Now comes Jessie Strang, Waukegan, Ill., who, as you see, wears her hair bobbed. And she's just won first honors in her high school's music composing contest. She won't let her hair grow, either.

IN NEW NATIONAL PARK. They call this big rock "Angel's Landing"—probably because it's easily accessible only to one equipped with wings, as angels are said to be. It's in Zion's Canyon, part of natural wonderland which only recently was made into a national park. So alert advertising men who are thinking of plastering something boosting someone's pills on this rock can forget about it.

NOT FOR US, THANKS. Dr. Rollier, who runs a cure resort for tubercular patients at Leysin, Switzerland, thinks the sun's rays have a beneficial effect on the skin. So he has his patients go around in their birthday suits, summer and winter. You see 'em above skating, skiing and snowshoeing.

Should Supplanted Wives Have Pension?

Mrs. Nell Kendrick, the Tubercular Wife Who Says She First Accepted, Then Rejected, Mrs. Wakefield's Unusual Offer.

Mrs. Edith Huntington Spreckels Wakefield, Famous Californian Beauty, Whose Reported Offer of a Pension for Possession of a Younger Woman's Husband Eclipses the Spectacular Acts of Her Former Millionaire Spouse, Jack Spreckels.

The Most Up-to-Date Problem Raised by the Alienation Suit of Mrs.

By Mollie Merrick

Nell Kendrick, in Which She Charges "the Other Woman" Offered Her $100 a Month for Life.

"... and so in consideration of One Hundred Dollars, to be paid to me upon the first day of each and every month so long as I shall live, I agree to deliver One Wedding Ring, unbroken as the eternal love it symbolizes though, like love that is transitory, tarnished with wear; together with One Husband, pleasing to the eye but proved of no value to the heart . . ."

It is true that such an astonishing contract was formulated, agreed to and established between two educated, cultured and typical American women, does it mean that our feminine kind have jumped the march of progress for a century or more and are waiting for humanity to catch up? Or does it indicate that the sex is drifting back, along the sinister road of retrogression, to the day when the cave-woman selected her mate for no reason but the primitive one of furthering the race?

Mrs. Edith Huntington Spreckels Wakefield, grand-daughter of Collis P. Huntington, the railway magnate, former wife of spectacular Jack Spreckels, the son of California's multi-millionaire ship-owner and railroad head, society figure, and internationally known beauty, admits possession of what she declares to be most modern ideas concerning the acquiring and holding of husbands—her own and other women's.

She does not claim that her modernism originated or proposed the most startling of developments to date of alimony, in itself a comparatively modern institution; a pension to be held forth to the current and undesirable wife by the woman who would like to retire her and so release her husband, to have and to hold, for herself.

But Mrs. Nell Kendrick, who claims no modernism despite the fact that she is thirty years younger than her avowed friend, boasted rival, and natural enemy, maintains that the first offer of its kind ever to be bandied about the eternal triangle originated in the brain of Mrs. Wakefield, and that it was made to her before witnesses, in words of one syllable.

And withal this girl of twenty-four, who is neither beautiful, wealthy nor famous, is so depressed by what she appears to consider the perniciously regressive sentiments of her husband's middle-aged admirer, that she believes only a judge and jury capable of deciding all points at issue. Accordingly she has put the problem up to the law in form of request for divorce and compensation in the sum of $25,000 for what she believes to be alienation of husbandly affections peculiarly her own.

Bartering a Husband

As for Rodney Kendrick, poor but fascinating artist, bargained over like a length of silk on a mark-down Monday morning table—what does he care about the abstract features of the case he so cavalierly wandered into, with one woman babbling over his "sweet dependence" and another maintaining disapproving silence because whatever there may be of sweetness in his disposition has been turned in a direction not her own? Let humanity progress to a point where the darning of its women in the gentle art of courtship staggers the imagination—what does he care? Or let family relationship ship backward to the tiger-skin and knotted-club days, when Mame's good right arm did service instead of flashing fists. He is the spoil of victory; the passive personality bearing about the same relationship to this particular group of life problems that the bone bears to a dog's tail.

The strange family tangle that all of California now knows as the "Wakefield case," taught its climax of sensation on a day when the two women had foregathered in the luxurious home of the elder in Sausalito. More than the usual allotment of romance had gone into making that home the bewildering place it was. First there were the Huntington heirlooms, possessed by this daughter of the illustrious house. Likewise there were the odds and ends of rare and valuable objects left over from her marriage with Jack Spreckels; the same dashing youth who married Sidi Wirt, the singer, after his divorce from his first wife, and whose death in an automobile accident saved him from appearing in divorce court a second time. And by way of digression—to prove how likely are women-members-by-marriage of the Spreckels family to step out into the places where the bright lights of publicity shine, consider the matter of the sprightly Sidi and her $80,000 string of pearls, trustingly confided to that handsome soldier of fortune, Capt. Edward Barrett, for repairing, and the suit that followed when the jeweler, who never received the string at all, demanded their value from the Spreckels estate!

Below—Marie Spreckels, 19-Year-Old Debutante Daughter of Mrs. Wakefield, Who Was Left in Custody of Mrs. Kendrick While Mrs. Wakefield Went on an Auto Tour with Mr. Kendrick.

Capt. Barrett, to digress still further, was the masculine half of Alice Drexel's runaway match, and the husband from whose oppression and neglect that child of fortune and illustrious family was rescued by a reconciled father who went to Paris for the purpose a year or two after the elopement.

But to return to the home of romance in Sausalito. A pathetic little figure was a guest there; shrunken, bright-eyed Nell Kendrick, who had been invited to visit indefinitely after leaving a tuberculosis sanitarium.

They lounged in the boudoir of the woman who loved beauty and the other woman's husband; the plump, elegantly gowned Other Woman, who radiated the health and beauty that had made her a centre of gay life, and whose vitality faded to drab the wife who lay, pale and fatigued, midst cushions of the chaise longue. This was their conversation:

Mrs. Wakefield: "You know, Nell, I am divorcing Frank."

Mrs. Kendrick: "Lucky woman! I wish I were free!"

Mrs. Wakefield: "Do you mean that?"

Mrs. Kendrick: "Indeed I do, if baby and I were sure of a living."

Mrs. Wakefield: "All right. You divorce Rod and I'll marry him. I'll give you a hundred a month as long as you live. I'll be awfully good to you, Nell, and you and baby can come and live with us, if you like, when the divorce is over."

Mrs. Kendrick: "You've got me. I said I was through with Rod."

Mrs. Wakefield: "Do you want that wedding ring, Nell?"

Mrs. Kendrick: "Indeed I don't. I'll never live with him again."

Mrs. Wakefield: "Then I want it."

Thus was the ring turned over and the bargain sealed, according to Mrs. Kendrick. The three lived for six days amicably in the Wakefield mansion. Then the Other Woman and the husband departed for a motor tour of the state, leaving the abdicated wife to manage the house and the Spreckels children, of whom Marie, a debutante beauty of the season, is nineteen and the oldest.

And it was then, Mrs. Kendrick said, that she had time to think things over and understand just how fantastic was her position and the bargain she had entered into. She immediately went out and exposed the whole arrangement, which brought Grand-daddy Spreckels a-flying to San Francisco for the purpose of asking guardianship over the children, whom he seems to believe endangered by their mother's ultra-modernism in love and marriage.

The artist-husband, blinded by the sudden glare of publicity, moved out of the Wakefield home and into the Sausalito Hotel and attempted to squirm out of tacit indorsement of his lady love's modernism by declaring that he himself offered the pension for release, and that anyway relationship between his wife and himself was a thing of the past and he had intended for some time to manage an arrangement which would bring him freedom and allow him to marry his wealthy patroness, despite her own married state.

Is it modernism or primevalism?

Reimburses Her Jilted Lover

• You can call it what you like, and still find it startling. The only other case on record at all like it, and this only like as a shadow resembles substance, is the stand taken by Sheila Terry, the dainty dancer of Mrs. Wakefield's own San Francisco, who decided that a girl who encourages courtship from one man, and marries another, is in honor bound to compensate the first in something the same sum he paid out in attendance on her.

Accordingly, when she became Mrs. Roy Sedley a few days ago, she sent a check for $150 to another young man whose wife she was to have been, and who considered his services as a suitor worth that sum when he heard of her wedding!

Rodney Kendrick, Artist, the "Spoil of Victory" in the Modern (or Primeval) Bargain.

Putting the Largest Picture in the World on the Side of a Mountain

THE biggest photograph ever made will be printed soon on the sheer side of America's famous "Stone Mountain," a hump of granite a mile high rising from a flat plain fourteen miles from Atlanta, Ga.

It will be printed exactly as a photograph in his dark-room prints a picture on a piece of sensitized paper. The side of the mountain will be the piece of paper. It will be sensitized with chemicals. At a distance of seven hundred feet away on the flat plain, will be stationed a huge projecting machine. Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, will stand at the machine and throw his picture on the mountain-side, where the chemicals will retain the impression on the solid rock. Night will be Borglum's dark-room.

When the picture on the mountain is finished, it will be two hundred and twenty feet long and one hundred and ten feet high, and in it will be more than one thousand figures, each eighty-five feet high. Yet it will be printed by exactly the same process a photographer uses when he turns out your photograph in his studio.

The purpose of printing this huge photograph on the rock is to provide a working model for the memorial to the Confederacy which Mr. Borglum and his men will carve out of the granite cliff. With hammers and chisels they will cut in relief the figures that are flat in the photograph.

The completed memorial itself will be one of the most stupendous in the world. It will show the Confederate Army—cavalry, guns, infantry—on the march around the mountain-side, led by Gen. Robert E. Lee and Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy.

The huge figures will be visible for miles. They will make a work of sculpture which will rival the famous Sphinx of Egypt and dwarf the pyramids. The printed photograph on the mountain will be an eighth wonder of the world, and the carving that will rise from it will be the ninth.

The memorial was planned years ago and Mr. Borglum was engaged to do the job, but preliminary steps toward creating it had to be stopped on account of the World War. Now work is in full swing again and Mr. Borglum intends to start carving in the next few months, as soon as his photograph on the cliff is finished.

Stone Mountain is a freak of nature. Seen from the skyscrapers of Atlanta, it is like a giant bump in the farmlands to the east of the city. As one gets closer to it, one sees that the mountain slopes to the plain on three sides, but that its northern face is a cliff almost perpendicular.

The mountain contains countless tons of granite. On the sloping sides this has been mined for years. Granite from Stone Mountain was used to build the Capitol of Rhode Island and many other public buildings throughout the country. But the mountain is so big that granite can be mined for years and the surface will scarcely be scratched.

The Venable family, which owns the mountain, donated the sheer side of it to the Confederate Memorial Association. There is no vegetation whatever on this side. It is just a steep scarp, only slightly corroded by the rains and winds of centuries. The precipice can neither be climbed nor descended by man except for a short distance from the top. There have been many suicides here and not a few fatal accidents when adventurous sightseers slipped.

"Stone Mountain Is a Freak of Nature—a Cliff Almost Perpendicular * * Men Armed with Cutting Tools Could Be Lowered Down by Cables."

at its foot. But, bulking out from the granite halfway up, he could easily visualize the heroes of the Confederacy—a mighty army—covering the entire mountain-side.

He could easily visualize, too, how those figures could be carved. Once the outline of the figures was traced on the mountain-side from small sketches Mr. Borglum would make in his studio, men could be lowered down the cliff by cables and elevators. They would be armed with cutting tools, dynamite, blasts and anything else that was necessary.

Mr. Borglum's problem, however, was to get the figures outlined. If he had himself lowered over the brink of the precipice and with his own hand traced with paint the figures as he wanted them, he would encounter two great difficulties. First, the task of tracing a thousand figures eighty-five feet high would be interminable. Second, he would lack perspective. He would be so close to the face of the mountain he wouldn't know what he was doing. He would have to have himself lowered to the ground every now and then—a distance of three hundred feet—so that he could stand off and examine his work as an artist stands off from the easel. Such a method was obviously impossible. The plan of sketching the figures on a huge canvas and stretching it along the side of the mountain was suggested, but it was not feasible because the canvas would not fit closely enough against the rock and would slip out of place.

Finally, some means of projecting the figures on the cliff was decided to be the only practical plan. Many experiments were made. A shed was built at the foot of the mountain and the figures were outlined on a window in this shed so that, when one looked through the window, he could see the figures on the mountain in the size they would be when carved. The light passing through the window spread out before it reached the mountain and made the figures as projected much larger than they were in actuality.

Mr. Borglum's idea was to look through this window and by means of telephones direct workmen on the mountain so that they would outline the figures accurately. But this, too, proved impossible because of the distance.

At last Mr. Borglum hit on the photographic device.

"When I first thought of this plan," he says, "I wrote to different manufacturers of lamps. As a result, I have just finished assembling at my studio in Stamford, Ct., the most powerful projecting lamp ever built in this country. It will throw its rays a distance of seven hundred feet, which is the distance I must project my drawing from the foot of Stone Mountain to the point on the cliff where I will carve the memorial."

Mr. Borglum recently tested his projecting machine at Stamford. The test was successful. In the first demonstration the machine threw a shaft of light for six hundred feet, illuminating woodlands and rocks with a white screen twenty feet square as a central target. On this screen were thrown figures of Lee, Davis and other Confederate leaders.

Now Mr. Borglum is ready to take the machine to Stone Mountain. He will not print the entire picture all at once, but a different piece of it on different nights.

"First," says Mr. Borglum, "I will determine by several nights' work the exact location for Gen. Lee's figure, which will be the first to be thrown. I will make that spot on the mountain sensitive to light by pouring chemicals over it. Men will be lowered down the mountain-side with several barrels of nitrate of silver. The application of the nitrate will, in effect, turn the granite into a sensitized plate. Working only at night, because the night itself will be my dark-room, I will let the rays of the lamp shine against the sensitized mountain-side for several hours.

"After that, more men will be lowered down the mountain-side. They will pour over the exposed spot developing fluid and then 'fixing' fluid. At last the spot will be washed with about ten thousand gallons of water poured over the brink of the precipice. When daybreak comes the picture should be imprinted plainly.

"When one spot is printed, my workmen will begin carving on it at once in order to avoid the picture fading by any chance, though it should remain there for months, perhaps years. I will treat the side of the mountain in this way, section by section, until the entire memorial is printed and carved. In three months' time the picture of Gen. Lee should be plain from the foot of the mountain. The carving may take years to complete. It shall be my life work.

"The memorial is to represent the mobilization of the Confederate forces. All branches of the army—infantry, cavalry, artillery—will be shown marching across the face of the mountain. Confederate leaders in the foreground, reviewing these troops, will be Lee, Davis, Stonewall Jackson, Beauregard, Stuart, Gordon and Fighting Joe Wheeler. The figures of Lee and Davis will be the largest of the Confederate chieftains. The head of the horse that Lee will be shown riding will be thirty feet long, and the distance from the top of the rider's hat to the horse's fetlock will be eighty-two feet. The memorial as I plan it will without doubt be the greatest monument ever built. The single figures will dwarf other pieces of sculpture and the entire effect of the marching army will be stupendous."
